Read and Understand Easy to Understand Shinkiko Class by Masato Nakagawa Shinkiko is a vibrating energy that enhances spiritual awakening

Vol.3

Shinkiko energy enhances spiritual awakening, and I have explained what the spiritual awakening is like together with the history of Shinkiko, in the last month's issue. This month, I will explain why we need a spiritual awakening brought about by Shinkiko energy in this time.

Vicious circle that hampers spiritual enhancement

Shinkiko energy encourages you to be spiritually awakened, but let us put together once more what actually happens at that moment, which has already been explained in the October issue. In the issue, it says: "Spirits have minds and they are emitting a peculiar vibrating energy or light (Ki) that is determined by their minds' condition. By absorbing the Shinkiko energy, one time, the amount of light that a spirit emits increases together with its frequency. And this is when mind-broadening or spiritual awakening occurs. When it happens, you will more naturally tune in to the universe; to put it simply, your mind will be more able to think about others and harmonize with them, not just about yourself." What I mean is, the reason why Shinkiko energy has become much stronger must be because spiritual awakening or mind-broadening caused by the increase of the frequency of spirits' vibrating energy (Ki), is wanted by many people these days.

Basically, anyone with a physical body can heighten their spiritual energy and increase the amount of light by spiritual awakening, even though they do not know about Shinkiko; and the light is absorbed by the people around them. But if there are too many spirits who lost light around you, much of your energy will be absorbed by them and you will be affected by them; and you will find it difficult to be spiritually awakened and to heighten your energy. If such a thing happens, the spirits around you will be stuck and many negative-minded spirits will be in tune with you and gather, triggered by minor things. Thus, many bad things happen to us and make us worried and anxious, making all the energies lower. By the way, what is a spirit who lost light and cannot go to another world like? When I am sending Ki to someone, sometimes the spirits who are affecting him start talking to me through him. From their stories, we can learn what a negative minded spirit is like.

Spirits who are in pain, suffering and in need of understanding and help

When people die feeling strong physical pain or mental pain, sometimes, the feeling stays even after they died. Spirits who died a sad death are tormented by the same feelings they had while they were alive, for a long time; and they are desperate to be saved. Such spirits try to send messages to living people in some way to let them realize them. And some people who received their messages become sick or get into troubles. But When Shinkiko energy is sent to them, their problems will disappear and they will feel better.

Spirits who stay in this world with a strong desire

Some spirits want to stay in this world due to the obsession they had while they were alive, even they know they are dead. Such spirits do not want to be found and are hiding as much as possible because if they are spotted by living people they will have to go to another world. But when Shinkiko energy penetrates into them, they will stand out, and by being realized, Shinkiko energy will penetrate more. And gradually, their pains and agonies that they had while they were alive go away, and they will become able to take off for the world of light.

Spirits who do not know they are dead

Some spirits do not realize that they are dead although their physical body is gone; this is because their minds still exist. Such spirits sometimes involuntarily tune in to living people's feelings and slip into their bodies as if they have been sucked into, and use them as if they are theirs. If one body becomes flooded with such spirits, sometimes, the owner of the body feels his body stiffen, feels confused, grows forgetful and experiences rise and falls of emotions. The spirits can take off for the world of light if Shinkiko energy penetrates into his body making the condition of his mind and that of spirits' different, and makes them gradually aware that the body is not theirs.

Spirits who cannot go to heaven for no special reason

Some spirits who are not suffering, not in sorrow and have no obsession, but do want to go to heaven, just wander around this world, not knowing where to go due to the lack of energy. Such spirits do not have a strong desire to be saved since they are not suffering; and some are hard to be found out by living people since they do not want to cause any trouble for their families. Compared to the spirits mentioned earlier, they are a little better in that they know about after death: when people die, they become spirits and go to another world. But there are actually an enormous amount of such spirits around and they affect our everyday lives as negative Ki. So, we cannot ignore them.

What is needed in this era

It is said that the number of people who believe that a spirit exists is increasing due to the influence of TV and etc. This trend is good, but some are misunderstanding that people can come back to life again soon after they died. But actually there are many spirits who lack energy due to the negative feelings they had while they were still alive. And, it takes effort to lead them to the world of light.

When people are strongly affected by negative-minded spirits, they become obsessed with fulfilling their desires only. They may become seemingly materially well off, but the less people become spiritually awakened, the fewer good inventions and discoveries that can change the world there will be, and consequently science cannot progress. Not only the field of science but also other fields including politics and economics will be overshadowed by stagnation, and the world will be chaotic.

Spiritual energy cannot be heightened so quickly. We need to make our souls shine and give out light to the spirits around us, and be ready to take off for the world of light when we die. In order to achieve this, we need to always receive Shinkiko and live our lives cherishing spiritual awakening.
