Ki — A Light Energy that Fills Mind, Body and Soul vol.12

Spirits who do not know they are dead

Among the many spirits I have encountered, there are many who did not know that they are dead. Probably it is because, in many cases, they died suddenly but they were still as conscious as when they were alive, or they were able to live in other people's body and to use them at their disposal. That is why they can not have a feeling of being dead.

A long time ago, when I was sending Ki to a person who was at first claiming that he had a head ache, he said, "Oh, where am I?" after the pain relieved.

According to the spirit inside him, he suddenly died in a car accident and without knowing what happened to him, he was dwelling in someone else's body before he knew it.

In such a case, the spirit of a person who died in a car accident unintentionally slipped into somebody's body without knowing what really happened. That is, the vibrating energy of a living person tuned in to the spirit who could not go to another world, and attracted him.

I have seen countless of spirits who could not set off for another world, even after they lost their physical bodies, due to being negative-minded and losing energy and not knowing where they are. In this case, the reason why the spirits wandered in this world and started dwelling in the living people's bodies, was because they were conscious even after they died and did not know about another world at all.

In the modern world in which science is regarded as versatile, the existence of the spirit and another world are looked down on as fairy stories. It is not surprising if the ones who died in car accidents wander in this world due to the ignorance of the intangible world.

After I encountered with so many spirits who did not believe in another world, I felt it was so important to make the existence of the spirit more common among people.

And why could those spirits who lost their physical bodies, continue to live within others' bodies just like when they were alive? It must have been because the dead spirits and the living people who attracted them, both had a very similar vibrating energy.

Such a thing always happens. When affected by negative-minded spirits, we often feel sick, heavy, tired and have things going wrong. But if we try to be positive, our souls shine, and we can encourage negative-minded spirits to be spiritually awakened. Also, Shinkiko energy helps to give energy to the spirits and enhances their spiritual awakening.

Spirits who hang on to this world

When I was sending Shinkiko energy to a woman, a spirit of a woman who died of disease seemed to have appeared. At first there was a look of distress on her face, but soon started to look better.

I thought, "Good," and told her, "Your body is gone, but you have a long way to go yet." Then suddenly, she looked completely different from a minute ago. The sick woman's spirit seemed to have set off for the world of light, but the Ki receiver started to talk in the voice of a man, and said "I know that." The following is a summary of what he told me.

He said he knew that he lost his body after he died and that there was a world of light; and also that the ones lost their bodies had to go there.

But because he wanted to stay in this world, he slipped into the Ki receiver's body and continued to live. He said he was happy since he could do whatever he wanted. Unlike the spirit of the sick woman, he was not suffering; he wanted to keep the status quo, living within her. He also said there were many spirits like him and disappeared saying "So, leave me alone."

After that, for a while, I kept sending Shinkiko energy, but nothing seemed to change. I thought, "May be this is not the right time; she needs to charge herself more with Ki," so I finished the therapy there. She needed to receive Shinkiko energy daily in order to let the energy permeate more into her soul. Doing so would allow her to change herself and attitude gradually and to be able to send positive energy to the spirit that had been united with her. Then the spirit would turn to light, and both she and the spirit could spiritually grow.

Actually, what this spirit was saying was true: there are many cases in which the spirits without physical bodies go into others' bodies without being noticed. In such a case, if many spirits are attracted to one person and dwell within him, he becomes sick, or may die in a worst case and the spirits will waste the body. So, according to the spirit, it was wise not to be noticed as much as possible in order to continue hiding.

Also, not all the physical bodies are good for them. They choose bodies which can fulfill their needs to enjoy "another life." They tend to choose younger bodies rather than old bodies, since they can stay within them longer. In these days, the birth rate is declining and the population is aging in Japan. That means, there are fewer bodies that spirits choose to live; and it seems that children are being their target. I personally think that this has something to do with serious crimes, inexplicable suicides and depression that are increasing among young people.

Spirits who want to stay where they are

All the spirits who are hiding deep inside living people on their own free will say, "I want to stay here." "I don't want to go to any other bodies, so leave me alone." From their words, "don't disturb me," I feel that they are under some kind of influence by having received Ki.

Summarizing the stories of the many spirits I encountered, when a spirit receives Shinkiko energy, disparity is created between the vibrating energy of the soul of a living person and that of the spirit within him, and it makes the spirit feel uncomfortable when he tries to stay there. But soon, the light of Shinkiko energy reaches him and makes him feel better. And as he abandons himself to the light, he naturally becomes aware of the world of light where he should really go and of real comfort.

The spirits who are obsessed with this world, should all know how comfortable the world of light is. In order to let hiding spirits know about it, I will talk more about the wonderfulness of the world of light.

Before, there was a spirit who told me, "You say another world is a wonderful place, but how do you know that? You've never been there." He was right. You have to die and go there to find out. But being unable to know about it as long as I am alive will not help. So, I came up with the idea to ask my dead father who was already working in the world of light.

But because he was already in another world, it was impossible to ask him directly. So what I did was, I focused on sending Ki to tune in to him and tried to receive the answer from him. At first, I was not sure whether I was doing it right, but as I kept doing it many times, some images or feelings were sent to me (or, came to my mind). They were a kind of, unfettered, relaxing and refreshing feelings.

It seemed to me that the reason why the spirits who lost their physical bodies insisted not to go to the world of light was because they were assuming that they would be shoved to an unknown place, and be deprived of their pleasure of this world.

But in the world of light, there are many spirits full of light, including your ancestors who had died earlier. Since it is not a material world, there is no stealing of money and things, nor are there competitions. No body there needs to be negative-minded and to give out negative Ki to others. All of them have love for others, and the happiness of others is their own happiness; and they learn and grow themselves by watching over living people.

Such a place must be full of happiness and fulfillment that are much greater than those in this world. There must be many other good things about the world of light. I would like all the spirits who lost their bodies to know about it.

In order to realize it, it is important that they charge themselves with Shinkiko energy and that we send them the energy to let them go to the world of light.
