

(12)Unaware of their own death

2002-04-18 Thu

I have encountered so many spirits who lost their body, and many of them did not know their death. It must be because when people die suddenly they are still as conscious as when they were alive, and they can go into someone else's body and use it as their own. So, they cannot feel that they died.

Many years ago, when I was sending Shinkiko to a person, he was groaning that he had a headache at first; and when the pain got better, he said "Oh, where am I?" According to what the spirit inside him told me, he had died suddenly in a traffic accident and had been inside other's body without knowing what happened (he thought he was living as before).

In this case, the spirit unintentionally went into living people's body not knowing what happened. After he died in the traffic accident, he could not go to another world for some reasons, and there passed by a person who he could tune in to or who had similar feeling to his. He was drawn to the person.

I have talked about many stories of spirits who lost light, became negative-minded, and became unable to go to another world although they had lost their body. What I found interesting at first was that, although some had reasons for not being able to go the world of light, most of the lost spirits did not know that they were still conscious after death and lived on as spirits and that there was afterlife. In this modern world where people consider science as versatile, "spirit" (or soul) or "the other world" are viewed as unimportant just like religious fairy tales; so it is not unnatural for the spirit mentioned earlier to think that way. I really feel the need of making the existence of the spirit widely known and familiar to the public.

One more thing which I thought was interesting was that, spirits who had lost their body still existed in other people's body. They do so as a matter of course and without feeling uncomfortable. This is probably because their state of mind is very similar to the people in whom they dwell. Such a thing often happens, and it seems that every one of us is influenced by negative-minded spirits. But if we try to reduce our negative feelings, we can let such spirits learn things. The light of Shinkiko energy encourages both us and spirits to do so.